Dear Mr. Venugopal,

Inteq compliments Indus' collaboration management tool 'eOffice' for complementing our productivity by helping us to manage our resources across the entire project with one system. It has allowed us to be much more efficient in our scheduling and synchronizing of the project and personnel.

The document warehouse / Knowledge base should incorporate a version control system as this will enhance the product value.

I would definitely recommend your tool to any organization looking out for similar kind of solution.

I want to compliment your support crew as they take customer support seriously, and that's very important to us.

Keep up the good work.
